

November 2nd 1947

- He arrives in Manzanillo accompanied by Lionel Soto, Vice President of the University Students Federation (FEU) of the Philosophy School, to request, on behalf of FEU, to the members of the Veterans association to take the Bell of La Demajagua (the Hacienda where the first war of independence in Cuba began) to Havana for a rally to protest against the corrupt government of Ramón Grau. The bell is transferred to the University of Havana and placed in custody at the Hall of the Martyrs.
